

A PREMIER SERVICE EXPERIENCE

Is your association looking for a single source printer? At Documation, our goal is simple: to provide a variety of printing services and superior quality products at a competitive price, while meeting deadlines and providing exceptional customer service—on every order.

Pam Wilson, Director, Section Education & Meeting Services for the State Bar of California, was looking for a single source provider when faced with budget issues. Here's what Pam says about Documation and why the State Bar of California relies on Documation's overall performance:

The State Bar of California has maintained a long-standing and highly gratifying professional relationship with Documation for a number of years, and we have come to count on Documation for a wide variety of services related to the publication of our journals, CDs, educational materials, program binders, and promotional brochures. Documation's standards of excellence in the provision of products and service is unparalleled in our experience.

Although both our organization and our constituents are located in California, we have found that working with a Wisconsin-based company has allowed us to get premium quality for reasonable (and highly competitive) prices. In addition, we've discovered that our constituents receive mailings printed and mailed by Documation in as timely a way—and often in a more timely way—than mailings done by comparable local service companies in California.

The staff at Documation exhibits a "can do" attitude at all times, and their design personnel consistently produces fresh, exciting new ideas that enhance the appeal and marketability of our products. Indeed, what begins as a general concept for us is predictably transformed by our Documation partners into a tangible, innovative document within hours.

"Partnering with Documation was one of the best business decisions we've made."

We strongly endorse Documation and commend them for their ability to provide personal and efficient service, top quality, and low prices. Partnering with Documation was one of the best business decisions we've made.

Documation's creative, production, and distribution teams provide turn-key solutions to avoid costly delays in serving your markets.

For associations with budget constraints that include staff reductions, we provide a one-stop-shop resource whereby print buyers and meeting planners are able to "get the job done" with as little personal time expended as possible.

Why not work with the best! For more information about single source printing solutions call one of our friendly Account Representatives (800.951.6729) at Documation, the most trusted name in association printing.
