

Commercial Waste Consultation Services

IROW offers a free waste-stream analysis and on going service consultation to our customers. This can be especially cost-effective and helpful if you don't have an environmental person on your staff who can oversee important waste disposal operations. IROW will examine your waste stream, identify the makeup of the waste you generate, determine if your containers are oversized, establish cost-effective pickup schedules, and look for economic opportunities to recycle materials. Although many people consider all waste to be garbage, we look for the hidden value that can improve your bottom line.

No other company in the area offers this consultation service. Typical questions we ask:

- Where does your waste stream start? • What are the components of your waste stream?
- How does your internal collection method work? • What space is available for collections?
- Are there variables to your waste generation?

Why do we ask these questions? Because we want to build a waste handling system that works for you and your organization's needs.

This service is dependant upon the size of the business, the volume of waste generated, the type of waste and the space available for recycling.

Waste Hauling

Utilizing our equipment experience, IROW can consult with you on the type and size of bin that best suits your needs by taking into consideration current waste generation volume and frequency of pick ups. IROW will customize the waste hauling program around what works for you. Whether you need temporary containers, compactors, balers and even specialized containers, IROW has what it takes to meet your needs.

"We like to work with local, family-owned companies that pay attention to our needs and have a real stake in the growth and success of our area's businesses and communities. That's a big reason why we chose IROW as our commercial waste hauler." Tom Vandehey, Mid-State Truck Service, Inc.

"The problem with national waste haulers is that they sell systems to waste generators that make waste collection easy for the national hauler. At IROW, you'll get waste hauling systems that are the easiest and/or most cost effective for you."
